MCGILL UNIVERSITY "MARTLETS"

This could be the year for McGill's edition of the 1984-85 Martlet hockey team. The Red & White ended the first half of the season in second place behind John Abbott College, with a record of 3-2-1.

Captain Sarah Doherty has been instrumental in leading the team on defense. Center Olga Sanchez has decided to make a tremendous team contribution by moving to defense. Forward Roann Levitt has improved ten-fold. Her leadership on the ice is demonstrated by having the honor of becoming the team's leading scorer. Rookie forward Lisa Desormeaux, who is new to the game, has transformed into a fine player.

Head coach Ivy Steinberg looks forward to this weekend's tournament. Ivy is optimistic about McGill's performance and is anxious for her team to play new and previously unseen teams.

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY "TIGERS"

Bill Quackenbush's squad, the Princeton Tigers, have a 4-3 overall record to date, 1-1 in Ivy League action.

The team has fallen to U.N.H., Providence and Harvard, however they recorded a win over Concordia in an exhibition game at Princeton in early January.

Sophomore Gina Pietrangelo leads the team in scoring with five goals and two assists. The forward was last year's Ivy League "Rookie of the Year". Co-captain Sue McGilvray is second with four goals and two assists. She is followed by co-captain Laura Hallsdorsen who has contributed with a team leading four assists and one goal.

Princeton were third place finishers in Concordia's Invitational Hockey Tournament last year with an 8-4 win over host Concordia.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE "LADY FRIARS"

John Marchetti enters his fifth year at the helm of the Lady Friars. The ECAC Champions began this season with ten returning lettermen and seven newcomers. Their record to date is 7-0-1 including wins over Princeton and St. Lawrence.

Coach Marchetti is optimistic about his team, but they are taking nothing for granted. With the right combination of talent, luck and freshman contributions, they hope to repeat last year's championship win.

The Lady Friars are led offensively by Cindy Curley who has 11 goals and 18 assists for 29 points. Freshman Marlene Ricci, senior co-captain Donna Salvoni and frosh Lisa Brown follow with 19, 18 and 17 points respectively.

Providence College won the Concordia Invitational championship in 1981 and again last year with an exciting 3-2 win over U.N.H.

UNIVERSITE LAVAL "ROUGE ET OR"

Laval University once again sends along an enthusiastic team under the careful coaching of Dominique Boivin and Nathalie Monfette.

According to the coaches, the team is very excited about being part of the Concordia Women's Invitational Hockey Tournament, as they are not involved in any specific league. It is Concordia's hope to have them join in the Quebec Women's Hockey League, along with Bishop's, McGill and John Abbott.

The team is part of an intra-mural league in Quebec City as there are no Universities in that area who play varsity hockey.

Along with the nine returnees from last year's team, six newcomers have added depth and encouragement to the team. They are truly an enthusiastic team and never give up.

PROFILES

CONCORDIA UNIVERSITY "STINGERS"

The Concordia Stingers with only five returnees from last year's squad are in the midst of a rebuilding season. Coach Les Lawton's team has steadily improved through the season, as the ten first-year players gain invaluable experience. The Lady Stingers, who have a 0-4-3 record in league play and a 2-7-1 overall record, have displayed a strong defensive style which has kept them in games against more talented, experienced teams.

Denise Beaudet is Concordia's top scorer with 9 goals and 8 assists in 17 games. Lisa Lynn has added 2 goals and 10 assists and Josy Ferraro has scored 7 goals and 3 assists for the Stingers.

Emeline Geukers and Karen Kane will share the goaltending chores this weekend. Both have played exceptionally well of late, allowing only 25 goals in the last eight games.

UNIVERSITY OF NEW HAMPSHIRE "WILDCATS"

Russ McCurdy enters his eighth year as head coach of the Wildcats. Under McCurdy's guidance, U.N.H. posted four unbeaten seasons and won four consecutive EAIWA titles.

After two games, the Wildcat team has a 2-0 record. With 12 freshman on the roster, U.N.H. is a young team. The offense remains well-staffed with four of last year's top six scorers back. Sara McKay, a veteran defensive player will carry much of the weight until the newcomers gain more experience.

U.N.H. was 16-4 last year, finishing second to Providence in the ECAC. Overall, U.N.H. has the most outstanding record in all of women's intercollegiate hockey, with an eight-year mark of 127-6-2.

The Wildcats were winners of the Concordia Tournament in 1979 and are still hoping for another championship.

ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY "LADY SAINTS"

St. Lawrence University is currently 500 on the season with three wins and three losses. This year's edition of the skating "Saints" is a very young team. There are only three seniors on the team, captains Mary Beth Riley, Val VanHorn and winger Kate Trombley.

The Saints will improve as their younger players gain experience and some of the veterans return from programs off campus. The team is currently led by their first line of Mary Beth Riley at center, Chris Cawley at left wing and Kathy Duncan at right wing. Val VanHorn, JoAnn Campbell and Sue Neimeth are the leading defenders and Becky Clements and Liz Riley are the goaltenders.

The Saints under the leadership of head coach Bernie McKinnon are making their first appearance in the Concordia Invitational Women's Hockey Tournament.

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY "GOLDEN GAELS"

The Queen's Golden Gaels under head coach Janean Sergeant have had a very successful season thus far. After completing the first half of league competition, the team managed to gain second position of second place just a few points behind the University of Toronto.

The league in general is extremely well balanced with all teams displaying a high degree of calibre. Queen's in particular is fortunate to have eight returning players, two of which are among the league top ten scorers, Leah Anne Goody and Carolyn Aylesworth. This experience, combined with ten talented and very enthusiastic rookies has produced a unique squad capable of much success.

Queen's currently stands with a 6-3-1 record with only six remaining games. This incentive alone will help to keep the Golden Gaels on the right path, thus working their way closer towards the 1985 OQIAA play-downs.
